TOWN CLERK'S REPORT.

The number of auto permits issued for 1922 was 100, and the total received as tax on the same was $655.80 against $413.11 received in 1921.

The total number of dogs reported to me was 81 males and 24 females, a total of 105. The license fees received during the year were $228, but not all have been paid. Some of the dog owners, who always pay, delay the payment of the license tax till the close of the year. This is not only contrary to law which says the tax should be paid in May, but it is also a loss to the owners. There is a certain amount of legal protection to a licensed dog which does not belong to an unlicensed dog. One would suppose a dog owner, who cared anything for his dog, would want to pay the license at the beginning of the season, and have the benefit of that protection. Some of them are wise enough to do that.

Those who keep several dogs for breeding purposes can have a Kennel License for the year at the following rates:

If not over 5 dogs,	$12.00
If not more than 10 dogs,	20.00
If more than 10 dogs,	25.00

A. A. BENNETT,

Town Clerk.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

---

To the School Board and Citizens of Gilmanton:

I herein submit my annual report as superintendent of schools.

REPAIRS.

Only minor repairs have been attempted during the last year, and no alterations of school buildings. Some things that need attention at present are as follows:

New Kaustine vaults should be installed at the Academy building in order that the children may not be compelled to use the present toilets that are open to the public. At the Smith Meeting House school, new Kaustine toilets should be installed. Also the ceiling and walls of the school room should be whitened or painted and the lighting attended to. I believe a constructive policy of making some permanent repairs each year is an economic business feature and a sign of educational advancement.

METHOD AND SCHOOL WORK.

During the year we have used the Palmer method of writing when we had a teacher accustomed to this method, otherwise Houghton's system of writing. We have applied the Ayer standard tests to both writing and spelling. In spelling we have used nearly all methods and avenues of approach to the child in order to get the word taught into the system of the child, viz., the ear, eye, muscles of throat and those of arm and hand, i. e., the child is given the word from the board, sometimes by quick perception method, then he spells it orally and uses it in a sentence, afterwards writes it in his spelling blank. We are getting better spellers, considered as a whole school, than we did several years ago.

In writing, we aim at neatness, legibility, and a fair amount of speed.

In reading, we devote the first three years to the mechanics of reading, i. e., giving the child the book by which he may decipher the written or printed word.' More emphasis has been placed on the sounding of letters, syllables and words, also drills on phonics. We have tried to impress on the pupils the importance of correct syllabication of words both in spelling and reading.

After the third grade, attention is turned more particularly to three points, viz., (1) the getting the thought from the printed page; (2) silent reading under the guidance of the teacher—the getting of the thought for ourselves; (3) oral reading—the giving of the thought to another which implies clear articulation and enunciation and a proper expression of thought. In fact, teachers who have insisted that the pupils give back the thought in their own words, even from the first grade, have developed the best readers.

In number work or arithmetic, we have tried to begin with the concrete and then go to the abstract. In the first and second grades, considerable picture work has been done to illustrate the principles in concrete form. We have tried to have the pupils master all possible combinations of numbers up to ten and in some schools even to twenty. Also developed and given thorough drill on the multiplication tables. We are old fashioned enough to believe in continued drill on tables and combinations of numbers until the pupil's mind responds automatically and readily.

After the ground work preparation, we confine our work to the practical principles that enter into the needs of the ordinary citizen, viz., drill on the four fundamental principles: addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division; common and decimal fractions; percentage with its applications, i. e., profit and loss, commission, insurance, taxes; simple interest and compound with its application to banking; measurement of the quadrilateral, triangle, circle and problems that are based upon them; wood, lumber, coal, problems that develop the principles of lengths, areas and contents; carpeting, papering, the right triangle which implies the knowledge of square root.

On geography, history, physiology and other subjects of similar nature, teachers who have used the topical method under the guidance of the five steps in teaching given in the State Problem of Studies, chapter seventeen, have obtained the best results.

GENERAL REMARKS.

From the statistical table, we find the average attendance remains practically the same for the year ending June 30, 1922, as the previous year, but the number of tardy marks shows a decrease of 41, or more than 9% of last year's mark. Although this gain in punctuality is small yet it is in the right direction.

Good habits of regular attendance and punctuality are equally important for the success of the child in life as the content of their studies. Also the number of tardy marks is often considered a thermometer of the condition of the school.

On account of sickness, inclement weather and impassable roads, the average attendance may be lowered without any fault of the school, but tardy marks are usually within the possibilities of parents and pupils to control.

During the sixteen weeks of school from September 5, to December 22, a much better record in attendance and punctuality has been maintained than is given in the statistical table for year ending June 30, 1922.

But during the winter term, in progress at time of writing this report, snow storms, bleak and cold weather, sickness and impassable roads have wrought havoc in the ranks of school attendance and have tarnished our best efforts for punctuality.

If this is a sample winter of what we may expect in the future, I recommend that we begin our schools by the middle of August. Should a few days of intolerable heat in the school room happen, the teachers could take their pupils into the shade of some oak or maple and get along more easily than plowing through the snow of impassable roads in weather that is excessively cold, stormy, bleak, and dangerous to the health of children.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation of the unfailing support and encouragement of the school board, the co-operation of teachers, parents and citizens.

Steady progress in all phases of school development has been the result of this co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK T. JOHNSON,
Superintendent of Schools.
